*RELEASE FORM FOR ACCREDITATION REVIEW
Candidate Work*

Willamette University and the School of Education will undergo an initial accreditation review by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) and the Oregon Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC). The site visit is Fall 2009. As part of the review, we are collecting samples of candidate work. The purpose of the samples is not to judge individual students, but rather to provide examples of the types of assignments and levels of work School of Education candidates complete. So that faculty may select and exhibit candidate work as needed for the accreditation teams visiting in Fall 2009, we ask that you complete and return this release form.

While copies of your work are preferred, if it is only possible for you to provide us with your original, we will return the work to you after the site visit. In the meantime, we will store it in as secure an area as possible. We will need your address after the site visit for mailing purposes.

I grant permission to Willamette University to present my work to the accreditation teams visiting the School of Education in Fall 2009. I understand that only professional educators on the team and in the School of Education will have access to my work. I also understand that the School of Education will attempt to return the project (if it is an original) to me after the site visit, but this is not guaranteed, since the Exhibit Room in which this work will be located may not be secure.
