Welcome to law school! I look forward to seeing all of you on Tuesday afternoon.

The casebook for this course is JOHN C.P. GOLDBERG, ET AL, TORT LAW: RESPONSIBILITIES AND REDRESS (4th ed. 2016). I strongly recommend buying the new edition, which should be available at the bookstore, or in less expensive formats and rental offerings through the publisher. The newest version permits access to supplementary online materials that you may find helpful, most notably something called “Connected Casebook.” Students have offered me highly-positive reviews of that tool. If you buy a new hard copy of the book, I suggest you purchase it at the campus bookstore. Your book will come with a code for Connected Casebook.

There are different electronic versions of the book that you can purchase that also give you less expensive opportunities to “rent” the book directly from the publisher—investigate it for yourself. Here is a link:

As long as you get access to a new version of the book, you will be fine.

From the book publisher:

What are Connected Casebooks and CasebookConnect.com?

The Connected Casebook is a groundbreaking pilot program from Wolters Kluwer Legal Education that meets the needs of students and professors alike. Choose either the New Hardcover, Looseleaf, or Connected Casebook Rental version. All three include access to CasebookConnect.com, a cloud-based platform accessible on computers and tables with three main features:

- a fully functional ebook version of the casebook;
- a study center complete with curated excerpts and practice questions from leading study aids such as Examples & Explanations and Glannon Guides, and a tool to help students create their own outline

What comes with my Connected Casebook order?

When you select a Connected Casebook title, you will get a physical copy of the book either New Hardcover, Looseleaf, or Connected Casebook Rental.

If you purchase the new hardcover or looseleaf it is yours to keep. If you choose the Casebooks Connect Rental you rent it for the duration of your course term. For either option you will receive an access code for the Casebook Connect website. Better yet, you get access instantly!

Your access code will be included in the order confirmation email you get immediately after placing your order (look for it at the bottom). If you select the Casebook Connect Rental a brand new book is shipped out to you.

You can write and highlight in the book as much as you want. We ask you return the physical book at the end of the license term.
